

*You said...
We did...*

FREE

METRO

Friday, December 16, 2016

THE WORLD'S MOST POPULAR FREE NEWSPAPER

After four years of brutal siege, 'rescue' convoy rolls out of Syria's broken city

You said:

Patients want to have a daily paper to read

We did:

We got the Metro paper delivered and staff volunteered to take copies to patients on the wards

A GREAT escape... convoys of buses... of children out of Aleppo...
The youngsters were among about 1,000 people - including rebel fighters and their families - to be loaded into the vehicles.
It was hoped thousands more would be brought out of the Syrian denounced worldwide for bombing his own people - stands to regain control of one of the biggest bastions of defiance to his rule.

Mr Assad said last night that the 'liberation' of Aleppo was 'history in the making'. Wissam Zarqa, an

Continued on Page 3

Listening to you.